Shiawassee Health & Wellness Partners with Macomb, Oakland and Wayne Counties to Promote Community Event Website

Commonwealth, an innovative website that promotes community events and resources launched by Macomb County Community Mental Health (MCCMH) in February 2014, has now expanded its collaboration to include Shiawassee Health & Wellness.

“Collaboration is very valuable. Together we can broaden our efforts to connect people to opportunities in which they can build social networks and enhance personal wellbeing,” said Lindsey Hull, CEO at Shiawassee Health & Wellness. “We strive to empower the individuals we serve with knowledge about activities, resources and supports in our Shiawassee County community.”

The Commonwealth site publicizes opportunities for education, individual growth, emotional support, and connection to community service programs. It connects people to celebrations of triumph, diversity, healthy fun and pride in their community. The collaboration champions individual and community empowerment.

Commonwealth’s user-friendly format allows community members to browse events by a number of criteria, including county, organization or event name, date and cost. Its tremendous success is meeting a significant need, especially for families and individuals in search of local resources that enhance their ability to live, work, learn and play in their communities.

Currently there are over 600 agencies sharing activities on the Commonwealth website and the list continues to grow. If you have an event, you would like to share on commonwealth website, please email your event flyer or information to Penny Corbin at pcorbin@shiabewell.org.

Shiawassee Health & Wellness, formerly Shiawassee County Community Mental Health Authority, provides services and support to Shiawassee County residents who are adults and children with developmental disabilities, adults with serious mental illness, and children with serious emotional disturbances.
